

LAKE CITY

Lake City was born when a railroad worker hung a sign saying “Lake” near the tracks of the Northern Pacific Railroad. The name stuck and Seattle adopted Lake City in 1957.

Lake City has everything from car dealerships to strip malls filled with ethnic art shops, bookstores and restaurants. Baker’s, founded in 1929, is a longtime Lake City favorite, rivaling only Claire’s Pantry for drawing big lunchtime crowds.

Sidewalks and trees have only added to the charm of this Seattle area and the city has plans to decorate the streets with art panels and begin an annual art-in-the-park event.

The Lake City neighborhood is generally defined as the area bounded on the north by N.E. 145th, the west by Fifth Ave. N.E., the south by N.E. 95th and the east by Lake Washington.
